

StudentsStudent Grievance Procedure

It is the purpose of discussion and appeal procedures to provide access to appropriate school officials within a reasonable time. It is not the purpose to provide a forum through which trivialities, irresponsible actions, and non-related school issues are conveyed. In this context, the administration makes the following recommendations:

1. That as many student problems and concerns as possible be handled through committees established by the student council or government organization, or through direct communication with a staff member.
2. That only issues of utmost concern be brought before a student-faculty committee for review and disposition.
3. That only unresolved issues of major importance be appealed to the school administration for consideration and action.

Regulation
approved: 10/19/94

BROOKFIELD PUBLIC SCHOOLS
Brookfield, Connecticut