

Community RelationsUse of Materials to School/Personnel

Supplementary printed materials from commercial, political, religious or other non-school sources should have the approval of the building administrator before being used in the schools. This approval may be given to those materials which supplement and enrich text and reference book material and which are up to date and factual.

Advertising material of commercial, political or religious nature should not be displayed or distributed in the schools or on the school grounds unless the material contributes to and is a part of, the curriculum. Students shall not be used as the agents for distributing non-school materials to the homes without the approval of the superintendent.

Teachers may use special aids (print and non-print materials) such as models, cuts, films, slides, pictures, charts and exhibits for educational purposes with the approval of the building administrator, although such material may bear the name of a commercial business firm which may have provided the aid.

Educational films secured from or through commercial sources shall be approved by the building administrator prior to their use in the schools.
